Apple IIc Plus: Brief Description Of The Self-Test

This article last reviewed: 12 October 1988

The Apple IIc Plus self-test turns on the low-resolution color screen.

During the self-test, the colors change, indicating the progress of the test. At the end of the testing cycle, the color screen clears, and a "SYSTEM OK" message displays in the midst of random text. This is the normal end-of-test display to indicate that there is nothing wrong with the system. No other prompt appears.

To return the Apple IIc Plus to Applesoft BASIC, press CONTROL-RESET.
