Inside Macintosh: Hardcover version missing a page

The hardcover, all-in-one Inside Macintosh manual from Addison Wesley is missing a page. Page 91 of Volume II was left out (containing a description of the FSOPEN File Manager call), and in it's place is Page 73 of Volume II (summary of OS Event Manager and data types). The page numbering is correct--it's just the page's contents that are wrong. So the manual contains two of the same page (pg. 73, vol. II), and none of another (pg. 91, vol. II).

Addison-Wesley is sending copies of the missing page to their bookstores for updating customers; we too will be receiving copies for distributing in our technical mailing. Permission has been granted to make as many copies of the errata as needed.

If someone insists upon receiving a corrected Inside Macintosh, refer them to Linda O'Brien at Addison-Wesley, (617) 944-3700, x2643, who will make arrangements for them to exchange their old copy.
