System 7: File Sharing Monitor Control Panel

Article Created: 4 March 1991

Article Change History

09/04/92 - EDITED
            • For clarity and with more complete information.

TOPIC ---

What is the role of the "File Sharing Monitor" in System 7?

DISCUSSION --

The File Sharing Monitor Control Panel lets you monitor file sharing activity. It shows you the name of any connected users (actually the names you have allowed users to connect with) and the total time that the user has been connected in the current session.

This monitor also lets you disconnect any connected users. A thermometer-style meter indicates the amount of access by all connected users.

How to View File-Sharing Status

Follow these steps:

1) Open your Control Panels folder.

2) Open the File Sharing Monitor control panel.

How to Disconnect a File-Sharing User

Follow these steps:

1) Open the File Sharing Monitor control panel.

2) Click on (select) the user you want to disconnect from the Connected Users list.

3) Click Disconnect.

4) Type the number of minutes before the user is disconnected, and click
   OK.
Copyright 1991, 1992, Apple Computer, Inc.

Keywords: Sys7