LaserWriter Pro: Test Print Shows All Drives as External (3/93)

Article Created: 9 March 1993

TOPIC -------------------------------------------------------------

The LaserWriter Pro 630 user test print doesn't indicate that an internal SCSI hard drive is installed.  Instead, the test print denotes the internal hard drive as an external SCSI device.  Is this normal?

DISCUSSION --------------------------------------------------------

The LaserWriter Pro 630 does not differentiate between an internally or externally connected SCSI device.  Therefore, whether the hard drive is internally or externally connected, the user test print will always indicate that the hard drive is an external device.
